

Poets in Conversation: A Zoom Poetry Series Hosted by Phyllis Klein. Join us for an hour and a half of poetry and conversation as we connect and support each other through poetry, reaching a wide-ranging audience.

Twenty-Ninth Installment: Saturday, December 9, 2023, at 4PM Pacific Time with Connie Post and Phyllis Klein

To RSVP and get the Zoom link, contact Connie, or Phyllis at poetry@phyllispoetry.com

Connie Post served as the first Poet Laureate of Livermore, California. Her work has appeared in Calyx, Comstock Review, River Styx, The American Journal of Poetry, Spoon River Poetry Review, and Verse Daily. Her Awards include the Crab Creek Review Award, Liakoura award, the Caesura award. She has three full length collections and three chapbooks. Her 2023 full length collection “Between Twilight” (New York Quarterly) was a finalist in the Best Book Awards and her 2023 chapbook “Broken Metronome” was the winner of the American Fiction Award in poetry, a finalist in the New York City Big Book Awards and the Best Book Awards. Connie has been a life long advocate for autism and her disabled son. She loves to cook and makes some of the best lasagna you’ve ever tasted.

Phyllis Klein is a psychotherapist and poet in the San Francisco Bay Area. Her work has appeared in numerous journals and anthologies. She has won several finalist awards, and has been nominated for multiple Pushcart Prizes. Her first book, “The Full Moon Herald” was 2021 finalist in the Eric Hoffer awards. She hosts “Poets in Conversation”, a Zoom reading series started during the Pandemic. She’d like to thank her many teachers, mentors, and friends for all the support and connection she has received over the years that really took off during the Pandemic. Thanks also to Zoom for the power to see and talk to ourselves and each other online. In her not so abundant spare time she likes to paint birds and go to museums.

Next Installment: Welcome Anastasia Vassos and Richard Foerster on January 27, 2023 at 4PM PST
